Cass Technical High School

Detroit, Michigan

Our "Technical" High School

Another memorable year at Cass Tech High has come to an end, and soon many of us at Cass will leave, and start out to build our future. The road will be long and rough, but our 3 years at Cass will give us hope and encouragement along the way.

Cass means many things to its students. Concerts, hard work, Mary Pish, sports activities and clubs are all part of Cass Tech. To a senior, Cass is many fond memories; to a freshman, a new opportunity. From its creation in 1907 to today, Cass has played an important part in the developement of its students and their country. We have a school we can well be proud of.

Our "technical" high school, with its various curricula, has turned out many students who have gone on to earn national acclaim for their work. We at Cass should feel honored to claim a concert band which is one of the very finest in the country, an art department which continually wins awards in every type of contest, and many other students who bring pride to our school by earning scholarship awards. Our football, baseball basketball and swimming teams have proven themselves also, perhaps not always ending the season on top, but by displaying, throughout the seasons, the type of sportsmanship which distinguishes the champion from the ordinary player.
The Detroit of today is an ever expanding, ever modernizing city. Cass Technical High School is a very essential part of Detroit. The new Civic Center, the slum clearance projects. and the great Expressways all signify a Dynamic Detroit. Our school system, too, has shown great progress. Functional and beautiful new elementary schools and high schools have been built. However, technical training in our city is represented by facilities that were built 37 years ago and which have changed very little since. Looking back over this period of thirty years, it is seen that Cass' scholastic influence on the industrial capability of the city has been tremendous. Now, as ever, the industrial corporations eagerly employ Cass graduates. But industrial expansion is now even greater than the expansion of the city in general and Cass' facilities are still mainly as they were 30 years ago. The day of the unskilled laborer is over. In the near future, every man and woman will need some essential technical knowledge in order to survive. While the responsibility for providing adequately skilled citizens is that of all the schools of the country, Cass must carry an added burden. Being the only technical school in Detroit, the industrial capitol of the world, it is the job of this school to train its students to meet the city's demands. To do this requires an array of curriculums comparable to leading universities.

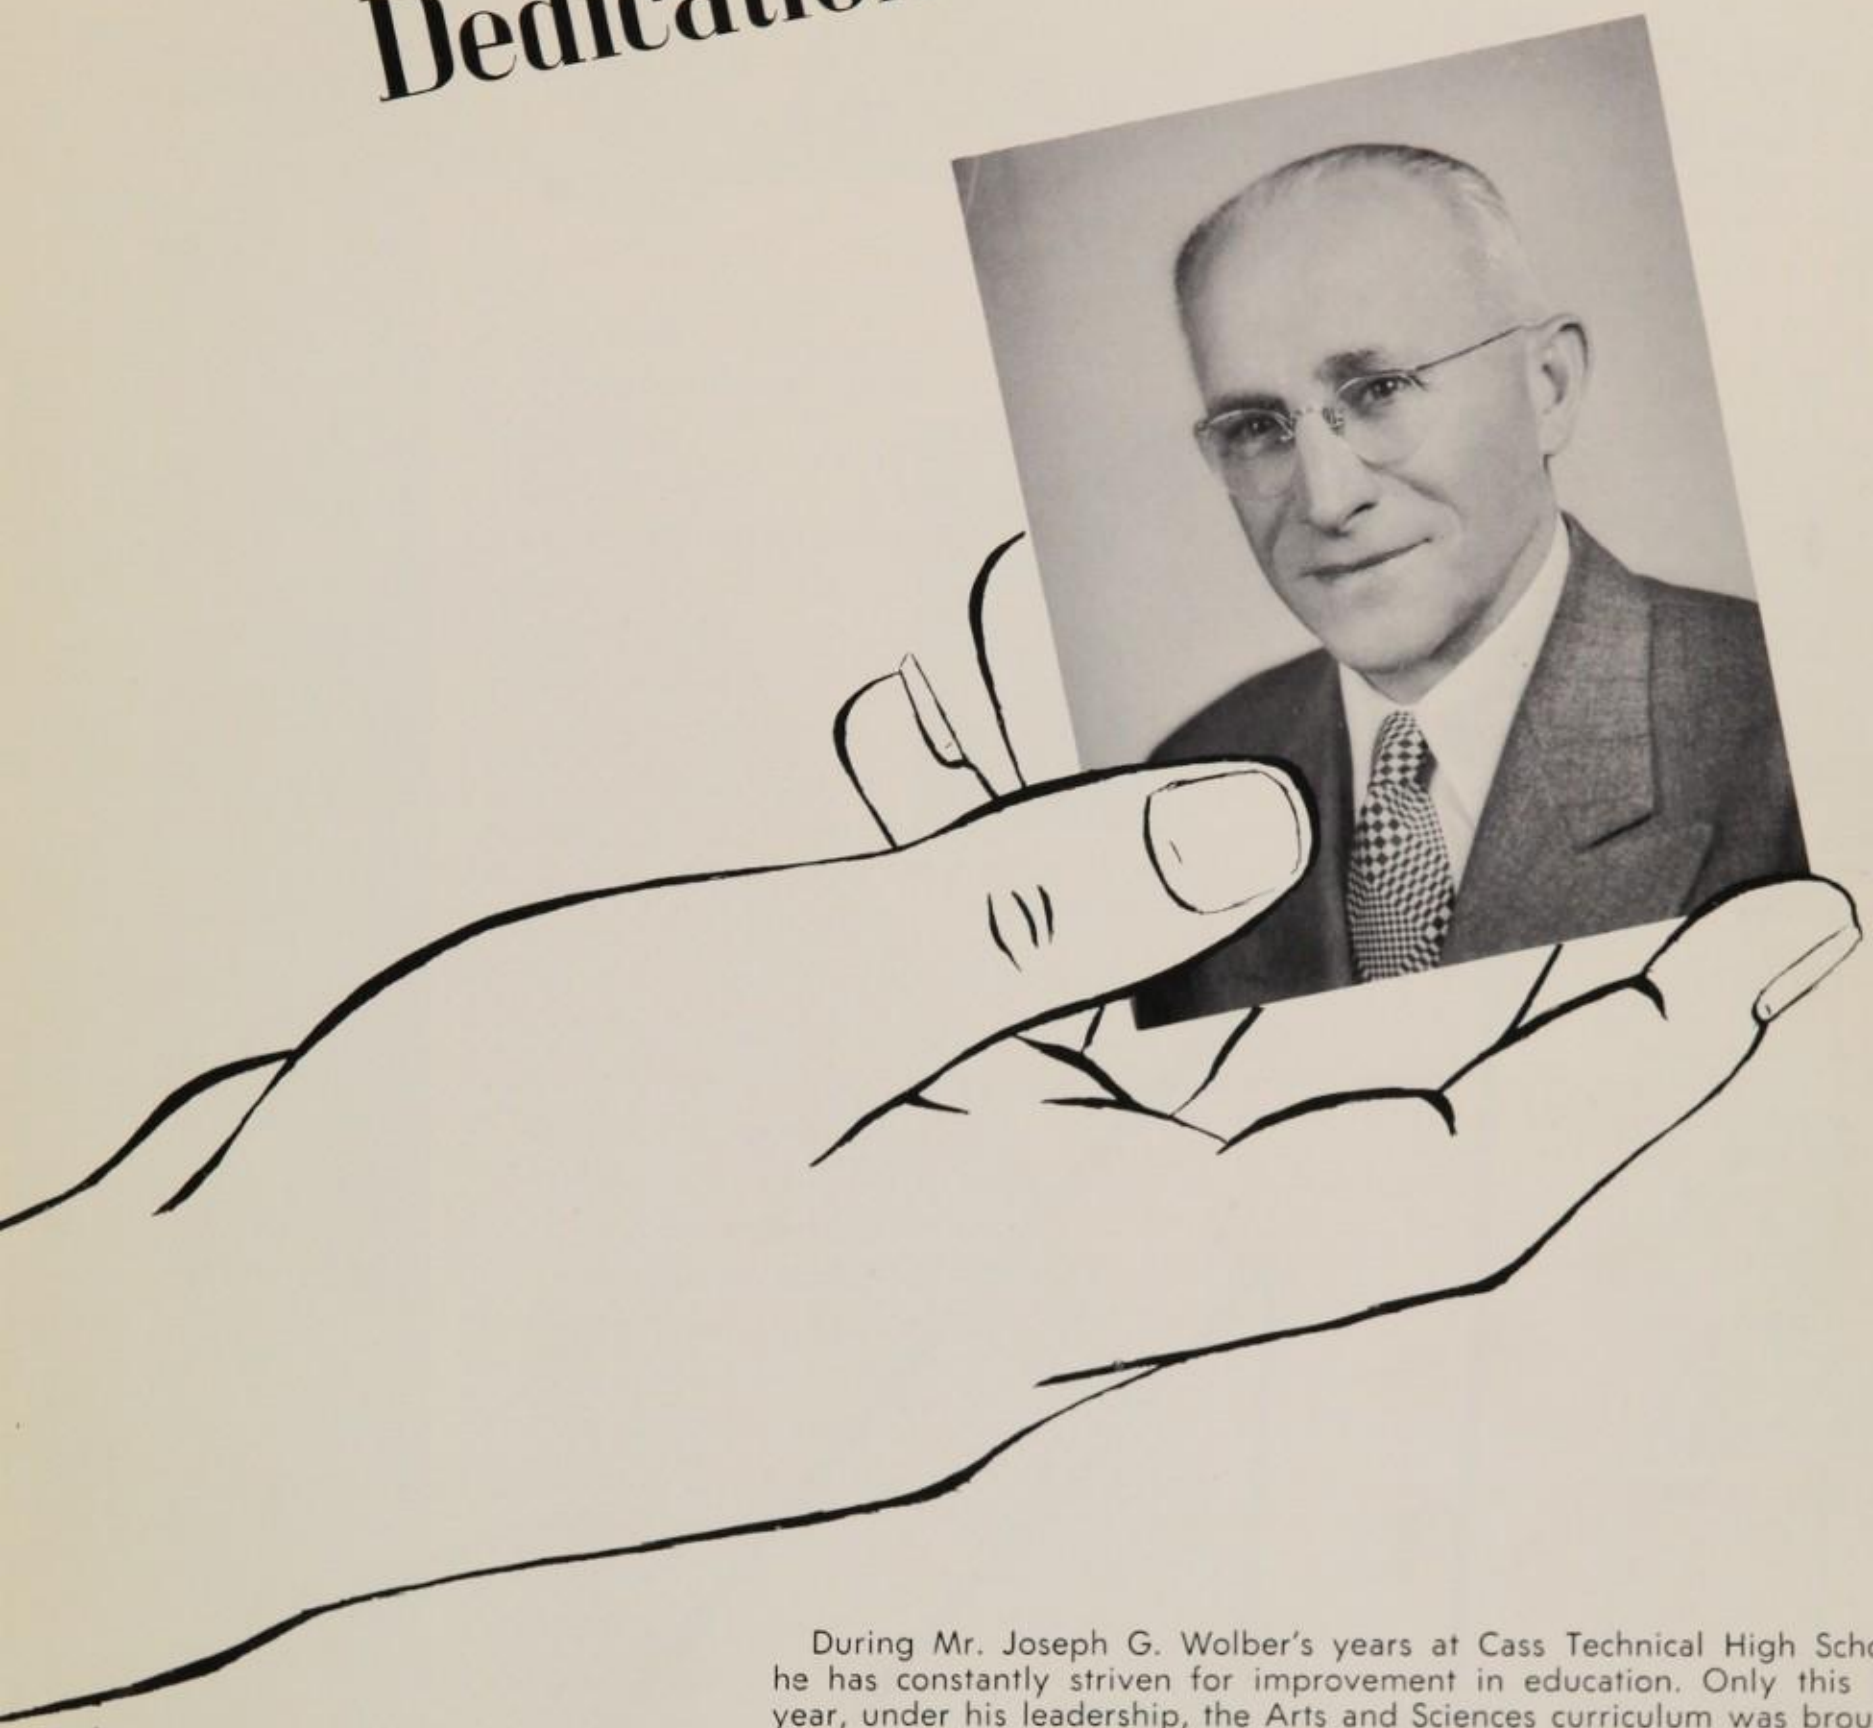
During this past year, scientific achievements by many countries of the world have further exemplified the need for a technical high school in our modern age. Last September the Arts and Sciences curriculum was added to our list of Scientific courses. The Arts and Sciences curriculum offers accelerated and advanced classes to the top 2 to 4 percent of the students in the city.

Cass is, however, much more than science and mathematics. The importance of culture is frequently emphasized through art exhibits, symphony concerts, and dramatic productions.

Cass years should be, and usually are, among the happiest years of our lives. We cherish the friendships formed and the memories of happy occasions and important events. Assemblies, Student Council dances, the R.O.T.C., fashion shows and Cass Open House will represent Cass, years after we have all graduated. We should be proud of the tremendous spirit which prevails at Cass, a driving spirit, an overwhelming spirit, a friendly spirit. Drawing students from every part of Detroit and its suburbs, our school is composed of almost every color, religion and nationality. All attend classes together, eat together and probably most important work together in harmony. This is something wonderful, and yet, it is as it should be. There is no room in America for discrimination and predjudice. We at Cass can be proud of the examples we are setting for others in overcoming these obstacles to democracy.
Many of us are now graduating from Cass to move on in the world; many have done so already, and many more are sure to do it in the future. But let us all always remember Cass Tech, our school, born out of prophesy to build a better future.

Harrison L. Engle
Class of June, 1958

Dedication



During Mr. Joseph G. Wolber's years at Cass Technical High School, he has constantly striven for improvement in education. Only this last year, under his leadership, the Arts and Sciences curriculum was brought to Cass Tech for the "gifted" children in Detroit who are capable of advanced courses. This shows his dedication to the young minds of today.

This scholarly man has made contributions to Cass Tech and the field of education that can never be overestimated. His leadership and guidance has proved itself invaluable to the many graduates through the years who are now in their chosen vocations.

Therefore, we, of the Senior Class of January and June 1958, the student body and faculty members proudly dedicate the 1958 edition of the Triangle to Mr. Joseph G. Wolber, our beloved principal.

retirements

HAZEL FULLER

Hazel Fuller, teacher of English and librarian, came to Cass in 1920. Previously she had taught English and Latin in both Michigan and Louisiana. She received her B.A. degree at the University of Michigan in 1918 and her M.A. degree from the same institution in 1925.

Miss Fuller was a scholarly person, and achieved the rare honor of having been elected to the Phi Beta Kappa scholarship society.

Her great interest in books and general literature led her to prepare for school library work at Wayne University. Tranferred from English to the library in 1946, she continued as the Cass librarian until her retirement in June 1957. Her contribution as a teacher and a librarian to the Cass Tech pupils and teacher staff cannot be over-estimated. Through her retirement, Cass Tech lost a fine personality, a lady of culture, a scholar, and a true teacher.

HARLEY H. GOODWIN

Harley H. Goodwin, a man of quiet interests, finds pleasure in books, gardening, or "shooting" the family on kodachrome slides—a skill developed in college days when he earned part of his tuition as a photographer.

A family man, still devoted to the girl he met in college over 40 years ago, Mr. Goodwin has two children, and is a grandfather to three—with his love of teaching living again in daughter, Fanny Elizabeth, who teaches special education in the Detroit school system.

A man whose thirst for knowledge has never been quenched, and whose has kept abreast of a changing world by studying as he taught, Mr. Goodwin has teaching experience in Manhattan, Kansas, in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, in Menominee, Wisconsin, and in Detroit.

A community-minded man with always time for church and Boy Scout activities, he now heads Leadership Training for District 10 and holds the coveted Honorary Beaver Award.

A contented man who has so lived that retirement means no change more drastic than more time for gardening, books, civic activities, and a few pleasure trips with wife, Edith.

ALICE MILLARD

Only one phase of the many-faceted career of Miss Alice Millard has ended—that of a Cass teacher. In her early years at Cass, Miss Millard sponsored two clubs, the Girl Reserves, a character-building group, and the Girls' League, a social activity organization. Later she developed the program for counseling the handicapped students, served on faculty committees, and made valuable contributions to the insurance committee of city-wide teacher organizations.

With the retirement of Miss Millard Cass has lost a stimulating, altruistic personality with a delightful sense of humor, but the city of Detroit will continue to profit by her unselfish interest in people and their problems. She will now have more time to devote to another phase of her career, service to her church and the community.

JAMES POLKINGHORN

James Polkinghorne was assigned to Cass Technical High School as a General Maintenance Employee in September, 1922. He retired December 31, 1957, after more than thirty-five years of continuous service to Cass Technical High School.

Mr. Polkinghorne's training and experience leaned more especially to wood work, and, therefore, his headquarters were to be found in the mill room situated in the Cass Tech basement. But his service to the school went far beyond the facilities of the mill room. There was scarcely any maintenance task that he wouldn't undertake. Requisitions for service were important, to be sure, but "Jim", as we all called him, did not let the lack of a requisition stand in his way when an emergency was at hand. His conscientious approach to the handling of lumber, and to the use of his hours at Cass, was most commendable.

His separation from Cass by retirement represents a distinct loss.

Mr. Campbell, who taught night school class with Jim, and who knew him intimately, refers to him in the words "cooperation personified"—a worthy tribute indeed!

He has our hearty wishes for a long and happy retirement.

TRAVER C. SUTTON

Mr. T. C. Sutton graduated from AuSable High School in 1907. In the fall of 1907 he entered Adrian College where he spent the next four years. He graduated in 1911. While at college, he received 12 letters in sports; 4 in Baseball, 4 in Basketball, and 4 in Football. He was captain of the basketball team the year they won the championship (MIAA).

Mr. Sutton came to Cass Tech in 1921 as coach of the football team. He coached for the following three years and had teams that were runners-up for the championship.

In 1924, he became a regular teacher in the Physics department of Cass Tech.

He received his M.A. degree from the University of Detroit and also Battle Creek College.

For several years he taught at the University of Detroit.

After 47 years of teaching in the public schools he retired. He is now teaching Physics in Evansville College, Evansville, Indiana.

It was a great loss to the science department and entire school when he left Cass Tech. It will be difficult to fill his place. We wish him the greatest success in his new position.

JOSEPH G. WOLBER

JOSEPH G. WOLBER, after forty-eight years of teaching and school administrative positions, retired July 1, 1958. He served as a curriculum head of the departments of Electrical, Mechanical Arts, Auto-aero and Architectural Building from 1923 to August, 1930. During his 21-year absence from Cass Tech, he served as assistant principal at Northwestern, followed by a principalship at Chadsey. In September 1951 he returned "home", to serve as principal of Cass Technical High School, the school where he embarked upon his teaching career in 1916.

Mr. Wolber is a native Detroiter, as he was born on the east side and received his elementary education in St. Joseph's School and obtained his secondary school training in Ammendale Academy of Maryland. Before entering college he obtained a certificate to teach elementary school grades in the New York area for nearly six years. While at the University of Michigan he earned his Bachelor of Science and a Master of Arts degrees in electrical engineering and physics. After a short period in industry he received the call which brought him to Cass Tech. In the Spring of 1916.

Mr. Wolber was instrumental in the promotion and organization of several curriculums while here at Cass and had the pleasure of directing the celebration of the Fiftieth Anniversary of Cass Tech. He is looking forward to his retirement that he may have more time to spend with his wife in traveling, with his three sons and daughter, grandchildren and also with his hobby in wood-working. Mr. Wolber was not only a great inspiration to the many thousands of students as a teacher, but also to many of the teachers who worked under his direction. We extend to him our very best wishes for many years of good health and happiness.

WILLIAM ZERBER

Mr. William Zerber has taught at Cass Technical High School for the past thirty six years. He has been a most sincere and loyal teacher to Cass and to the Electrical Department.

Mr. Zerber was very instrumental in the early development of electrical courses, procedures, and programs. In the past he has served as key man of the Schoolmen's Club, and was very active as a member of the Dramatics Club of the Cass Technical High School, that provided the students and the faculty with many hours of pleasant entertainment. "Bill" was one of the original members to organize and serve as president of the Benjamin Comfort Club.

Mr. Zerber has been very successful with our younger students. His unending patience, his fatherly advice, his wise counsel and professional attitude has helped more students to mend their ways and seek to do right than any other teacher in the Department. His oft repeated admonition, "I want respect—not fear" will ring a bell in the minds of many students for years and years to come. His kindness, gentleness, courteousness, and unselfish attitudes are among the reasons why he has always worked with our beginning classes.

Mr. Zerber is a veteran of World War I, where he served in the Infantry as an observer until he was wounded and sent back to the United States. For his outstanding performance in the line of duty, he was awarded the Purple Heart.

At the present, Mr. and Mrs. Zerber intend to travel and spend some time in Caseville at their cottage as well as in Detroit.

We will all miss "Bill", but we will wish him the best of health and happiness. We hope that in his travels he will occasionally find his way back "home" to Cass Tech.

The appearance of another Triangle announces another substantial increase in the contribution of Cass Technical High School to the manpower needs of business, industry, fine arts, science, medicine. Thus Cass fulfills its purpose in a manner not even fully conceived by its founders during the formative years.

With the return of the ninth grade in 1956 came the promise of still larger graduating classes, with consequent greater influence in the life and welfare of Detroit's people and activities.

To you, the members of the 1958 classes, our sincere congratulations. May the lessons you learned serve you in your careers, guide you in your civic duties, nurture your continued growth as individuals and as fathers and mothers. May the friendships begun at your Alma Mater be enduring. May you enjoy the success that has attended the graduates of other years.

These blessings we wish for you in abundant measure.

Successful careers in art are attained by many Cass graduates who get diplomas in Commercial Art, Costume Illustration, and Arts and Crafts. All three of these curricula are planned to qualify students for jobs with Detroit studios, department stores, newspapers, manufacturers, and advertising agencies, as well as for further study in art school or college.

Basic courses in drawing, painting, design, and art history are designed for all students in the art department. Lettering and layout, poster, merchandise illustration, and graphic design are the specialties in the Commercial Art Curriculum in Costume Illustration, techniques in fashion illustration and costume design are stressed, while jewelry, metal craft, and plastics are elected by those in the Arts and Crafts curriculum.

The Automotive, Aeronautical, Air Conditioning and Refrigeration curricula have been planned to provide students with excellent training in mechanics, English, social studies, mechanical drawing, chemistry, physics, and mathematics.

All of these courses are becoming more and more necessary as our world advances in technology. When a student has completed the above courses, he is well equipped to know and understand present conditions and practices. The training will help the student readily adjust himself to industry or college.

The shop work in the Aeronautical Curriculum consists of hand tools, aircraft engines, airframes, welding, aerodynamics, aircraft engine testing, aircraft construction, meteorology, and navigation.

The shop work in the Automotive Curriculum consists of the practical and technical aspects of hand tools, engines, power units, and automotive servicing.

The shop work in the Air Conditioning Curriculum includes the construction, installation, and servicing of domestic, commercial, and industrial air conditioning and refrigeration units.

Driver Training for all students in the school is also a part of the Automotive Curriculum.

LAWRENCE APPLEBAUM

The electrical curriculum consists of four years of specialization in the field of electricity and electronics. Many of our graduates go to college and have made some very impressive records. For the pupils not interested in college, our curriculum offers excellent opportunities as apprentices, helpers, and journeymen.

The principle fields covered in our electrical courses are: circuit analysis, including the national and local electrical code rulings; radio and television service; theory and practice; industrial electronics and applications; power wiring for both alternating and direct currents.

Our curriculum is based on a well planned foundation of English, mathematics, drafting, and science.

Much time is spent reviewing modern practices and present equipment and installation of various manufacturers and electrical contractors.

The Home Economics Department has a three-fold purpose in preparing its individual members for immediate employment, happy and effective family living, and advance study in Home Economics or Nursing Education.

There are four curricula from which to choose: Dress Design—for the person interested in designing, making, merchandising or teaching clothing or textiles; Institutional Foods — for the individual desiring to specialize in food preparation, commercially or educationally; Pre-Nursing — for the girl who wants to become a nurse in a hospital, industry or for public health; Pre-Nursing Commercial—for anyone whose interests are in nursing and commercial work. In this curriculum the student can combine the commercial training with the technical courses—This dual program makes possible direct employment as doctors' assistants.

The Mechanical Manufacturing Curriculum has been designed for those students who are interested in becoming mechanical or industrial engineers, automation technicians, or tool and die apprentices. Shop experience on such machines as lathes, turret lathes, shapers, milling machines, surface grinders, and universal tool and cutter grinders is offered, as well as shop and laboratory experiences in foundry, drafting, metallurgy, physics, and mathematics.

The Mechanical Drafting Curriculum has been developed for those who are interested in becoming engineers, designers, or draftsmen. The curriculum provides opportunities for all types of drafting experiences, leading ultimately to design problems. Foundry, machine shop, metallurgy, physics, and mathematics are other areas which round out the background.

The Architectural Drafting and Building Curriculum provides experiences for the student in drafting and building. Building construction details are assembled in the shop—plans are drawn up in the drafting room. The student ultimately can design a complete residential outlay and also be familiar with the building construction involved in the project. Supplemental courses in art rendering, physics, chemistry, and mathematics complete the program.

Cass Technical High School was one of the first technical high schools in the United States to offer a comprehensive music program. Soon after the turn of the century, a few forward looking educators began a study of curriculums for students who wished to specialize in a given field. There was a great demand in this, the Motor City, for skilled and semi-skilled mechanics, but these educators felt that the arts should have their place in a technical program.

The music program at Cass, started in 1919 by Mr. Clarence Byrn, was hailed as being far ahead of its time. At its inception it was a four-year vocational music program designed to prepare students for the many jobs then available in the playing field. During this era, many Cass graduates joined the professional music ranks. Many of them hold enviable positions in symphony orchestras, concert bands, radio, and dance bands. There are fourteen Cass graduates in the Detroit Symphony Orchestra at present.

Since job opportunities have lessened through the advent of radio, sound movies, television, and the recording industry, we have had to make some changes in the curriculum. While there is still considerable emphasis put on the vocational aspect of their training, we have encouraged our students to enter the teaching profession in both private and public schools. Mr. Glenn L. Klepinger, Music Department Head, has been instrumental in channeling much of the talent into music education through a realistic view of the present situation.

Performing arts means just what the words imply—a curriculum for would-be performers who wish to specialize in speech, radio, and dramatics, or who are also interested in the work of stage and studio technicians. The curriculum is not quite four years old, but its members are finding that they are not only being trained in oral English, but are also exploring the areas of theater scenery, make-up, costuming, and stage history. Before they are graduated, or "finished products," they will also know more than a little about stage lighting, script writing, and the use of movie machines, projectors, tape recorders, and all such modern equipment.

To become a performing arts student, one doesn't have to be a budding actor, but he should like to hear the sound of his own voice! He should also really enjoy performing before a group and appearing before an audience. While the curriculum is not designed for shrinking violets, the more timid souls are sure to gain confidence and poise from the public speaking courses, radio speech, and dramatics. Those who are close to the curriculum are feeling more and more that it is a good course for any student who expects to appear in public life and wishes to be able to make an effective impression upon others. Lawyers, teachers, and journalists might well fall into this category. The courses are not designed for pupils who have speech defects or inferiority complexes, but for those who have a real interest in all activities related to radio, television, and theater work. For some, those interests may lead to employment in radio or television studios as technicians, announcers, actors, or script writers. For others, these interests may develop them into more charming people, able to speak interestingly and well on any occasion. For all, the courses meet the academic requirements for entrance into college.

The Polytechnical Curriculum is designed for pupils who have followed a given special curriculum for at least three semesters and have decided to make a change. An opportunity is offered to the worthy student to undertake several types of work aimed at graduation and college entrance.

A transfer to the Polytechnical Curriculum must be approved by the student's parents. The request is then examined by the curriculum head and the counselor. If they approve, the request is presented to the Polytechnical Curriculum Head. The student's record must show desirable work habits, cooperation in the practice of school rules and good attendance.

The reasons for a change to the curriculum must be valid. Graduation at the previously anticipated time is not a valid reason to change from a specialized curriculum to the Polytechnic, especially if the student has been doing failing work. Among valid reasons for transfer are:

1) A frank recognition that the specialty previously pursued for three semesters is beyond the ability of the student.
2) A change in the desired career to be followed in college or work. The requirements are:

1) a minimum of 170 hours of credit including the ninth grade credits
2) three years of English
3) one year of American History
4) ½ year of civics
5) ½ year of economics
6) 1 year of biology, chemistry, or physics
7) 1 year of mathematics
8) 1 year of health education
9) A pupil must spend the equivalent of one school year in the curriculum before graduation.

Printing

ROBERT SHIELDS
Dept. Head

The Printing department prepares young men for entrance into the printing industry of Detroit on a technical level. It provides opportunities for developing basic skills and a broad knowledge in the standard printing processes which are necessary for entrance and advancement in the various branches of the industry.

The four year curriculum prepares young men for work in such lines as composition, platen and cylinder press — work design and layout and any of the numerous phases of salesmanship, advertising and business administration which requires some knowledge of printing methods.

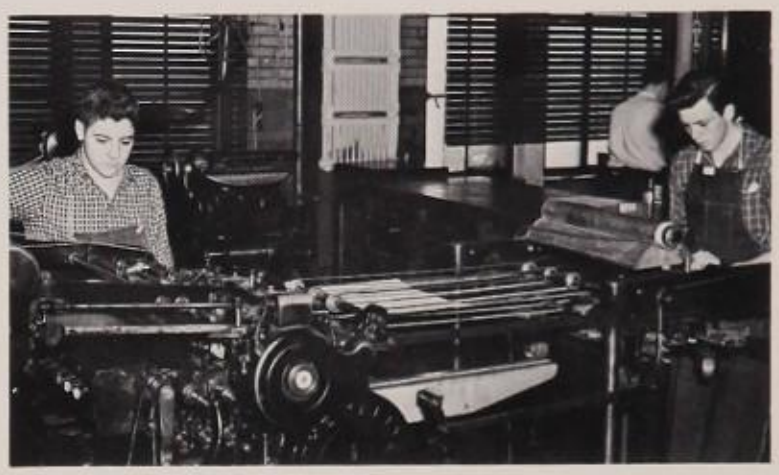
PREPARING FOR THE FUTURE

Here at Cass Tech we are very proud of the specialized training our students receive. We will now glimpse behind the desks and see how the printing curriculum functions.

Under the able instruction of the faculty members . . .



Printing students learn many phases of their chosen future trade.

Setting type

Hard at work

No room for error.

Graduates of the Chemical Biology and Chemcial Metallurgical Curricula may find employment in chemical or biological laboratories of the Detroit area as routine chemists or laboratory assistants. Colleges and universities welcome these graduates into the engineering and liberal arts college.

Few high schools in the country can offer as much or as many science courses as Cass. These are six courses in chemistry, two in advanced biology (microbiology and physiology and anatomy). There are also two courses in metallurgy, as well as elementary biology and physics.

Hot Dog ! ! !

After three long years of high school, the students of Cass look forward to the day when it is finally "legal" to skip. That unforgetable day means hot dogs, bermuda shorts, canoes, mustard on everything, football, several other means of entertainment (!), and an all around swinging scene ! ! !

THE SENIOR PROM

When taking candids this year, we chose the senior prom as our dance. Mainly because the prom is remembered the longest by all and by far the most important dance at Cass.

The evening was still young

We could have danced all night

Really swinging ? !

Best band in the land

It's concert time!

Mr. Harry Begian returned to Cass Tech in September 1957, after a leave of absence, to resume his direction of the Cass Concert, Marching and Varsity Bands. We, at Cass, are very proud of these bands and so we devoted this page to Mr. Begian and his talented students.

"Curse You, Jack Dalton"

For the spring season a production was put on in May. It was "Green Grow The Lilacs", a production which is very famous and well appreciated by everyone. This shows Cass Tech's many talents in so many fields.

The Twentieth Annual Poster Art Contest conducted in the Junior, Comprehensive, and Technical High Schools, sponsored by Walker & Co., concluded with the awards presentation at the Art Institute on March 26th.

Mr. S. M. Brownell, Superintendent of the Board of Education presented the awards to the prize winners at an assembly of students and parents at 8:00 p. m. on Wednesday, March 26th, in the Lecture Hall of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Guest speaker at the presentation was Mr. Warren Kemp, Art Director of J. Walter Thompson and President of the Detroit Art Directors Club.

In addition to the 71 prize winning designs, 29 others were selected to make up an exhibition of "The 100 Best Entries" in the Twentieth Annual Poster Art Contest. These sketches were exhibited on the 13th floor of the J. L. Hudson Company, March 31st through April 12th.

Salay receives award

Under the direction of Mrs. B. Cooper, Cass Tech students have put on several successful productions. Our Anniversary Pageant in 1957, received praise from many sources; students, faculty, alumni and the hundreds of outsiders who witnessed this production.

In December, 1957, a melodrama entitled "Curse You, Jack Dalton" was presented for the student body and also was a credit to Mrs. Cooper and the performing arts curriculum.

WAY TO BETTER LIVING

Learning provides a key to the spiritual and material riches of the world. Through learning, science and industry have combined to bring new convenience, new benefits and a new measure of leisure into our lives.

In this evolution electricity has played a leading part.

In the years to come you will live still better electrically for greater things are in store. But it will take ever higher standards of learning to win them.

Good luck to you in helping to make the dreams of today the realities of tomorrow.

DETROIT EDISON

what next?

It's a pretty important decision, young lady—choosing the right job. You'll want to work in pleasant surroundings—in light and airy offices with modern equipment.

And now that you're out of school, you'll expect to meet new friends where you work—young people you'll like and with whom you can enjoy your leisure time. (And how about a vacation with pay?)

Then there's the matter of a paycheck—it'll be nice to count on a steady income, a salary that's good from the start and keeps getting better with regular increases.

There's a job like this waiting for you at the telephone company!

You might want to be a telephone operator or a teller, a cashier or a clerk—those are just some of the many interesting jobs Michigan Bell has for bright young high school graduates like yourself. And there's a chance to advance in all of them.

You don't need experience to get a telephone job, and you'll earn a good salary, even while you're learning.

What next? Why not visit Michigan Bell's Employment Office? We'll be looking for you!

"A Friendly Place to Work"

Congratulations, Graduates!

The cap and gown you wear and the diploma you receive at graduation are symbols of a real accomplishment.

Never has education been more important to individuals or to our nation. Your contribution will be more valuable and more rewarding because of the self-disciplined efforts which have carried you to this high point in your life.

We wish you continuing success as you move on to further education or begin to build your careers in the life of the community.

EDITOR'S NOTES

The publication of a yearbook is not an easy job. It takes many hours of centration and hard work. I would now like to take the opportunity to than those who made the 1958 edition of the TRIANGLE possible.

First and foremost I would like to thank Mr. Arthu
Obel, our sponsor, who more than once gave me a "p in the right direction and without whom, I never c have finished this book.

Mrs. Elizabeth Schmidt and Rosalie Show, Art Ed and their staff of artists, did an obviously excellent job
the art work and for this I am very grateful.

Most of our staff members have a specific job, yet not only worked on these jobs but the entire book.

Harrison Engle, Senior Editor, not only compiled s information but he wrote our feature article, took the tures on the senior trip and helped promote TRIAN sales by working up the skits for assemblies with Ge McDermott, who besides being our Feature Editor, many of the cartoons seen in this book. Thank you bo

I am continually thanking my lucky stars to have Kath
Varner as my Co-Editor (Business Manager) and her assis Linda Moore on my TRIANGLE staff. They were the who kept the accounts and records straight. I would to thank these girls for a job well done.

Richard Gervan, Sports Editor, Pam Plager, Homero and Organizations Editor, Helen Poulos, Dyane Gray
Claude Barber also worked very hard on the comple of the Triangle.

Jo Gutierrez, Typist, joined our TRIANGLE staff late proved her ability as strongly as the others.
I would also like to acknowledge the work of;

Donald Boxwell
William Wildauer
Henry Shein
Jackie Hunter
Bernice Imber
Bruce Galbraith

These students though non-staff members, worked stage with the photographer when the Triangle staff c not be there. Their efforts can not be over-estimated.

Now that I look through our book, I can see that wit these students and faculty members, I never could accomplished what I did. I sincerely hope the January
June Senior Class find the 1958 TRIANGLE as rewar as I.

We've had a lot of fun together in Biology I and I
It's a shame I won't be in your biology 2 class next term. (only kidding)
Good luck in anything and everything you pursue

Suzanna, I'm not the nicest, I'm not the worst, I'm somewhere in between, but I'm not known for my long lasting impressions. Lots of luck to a swell kid and everything. Rosalia '58"
